Everyone says I look so glowing,
I really wish they could see inside my head.
'Cause it looks just like a place from hell,
and I can't explain the loneliness.

Maybe we could just imagine,
us camping with the moon by our side.
You can say one night can be hard,
but soon you'll see a hundred neon lights.

So I hope we can sing along to this song remembering my voice saying:
"Don't forget me world".

Now let's say we've never met.
Wouldn't that be weird and safe and rare and crazy?
And I know this will sound a bit cliché,
but I love y'all more than my entire life.

So I hope we can sing along to this song remembering my voice saying:
"Don't forget me world".
